- Why are we training Care Teams? Because the Army cares with compassion for its Families.
- A Care Team is a group of 2-3 trained individuals who volunteer to assist a Family through their greatest sacrifice.
- Care Teams are designed to assist and support Families, filling the gap between notification and arrival of their own personal support system.
- Care Teams in no way take the place of a Family Readiness Group, but help to effectively harness the energy and support of the group by assessing the Families individual needs.
